Author of light reviue my dying spright,

Redeeme it from the snares of all-confounding night.

Lord, light me to thy blessed way:

For blinde with worldly vaine desires I wander as a stray.

Sunne and Moone, Starres and vnderlights I see,

But all their glorious beames are mists and darknes being compar'd to thee.

2 Fountaine of health my foules deepe wounds recure,

Sweet showres of pitty raine, wash my vncleannesse pure.

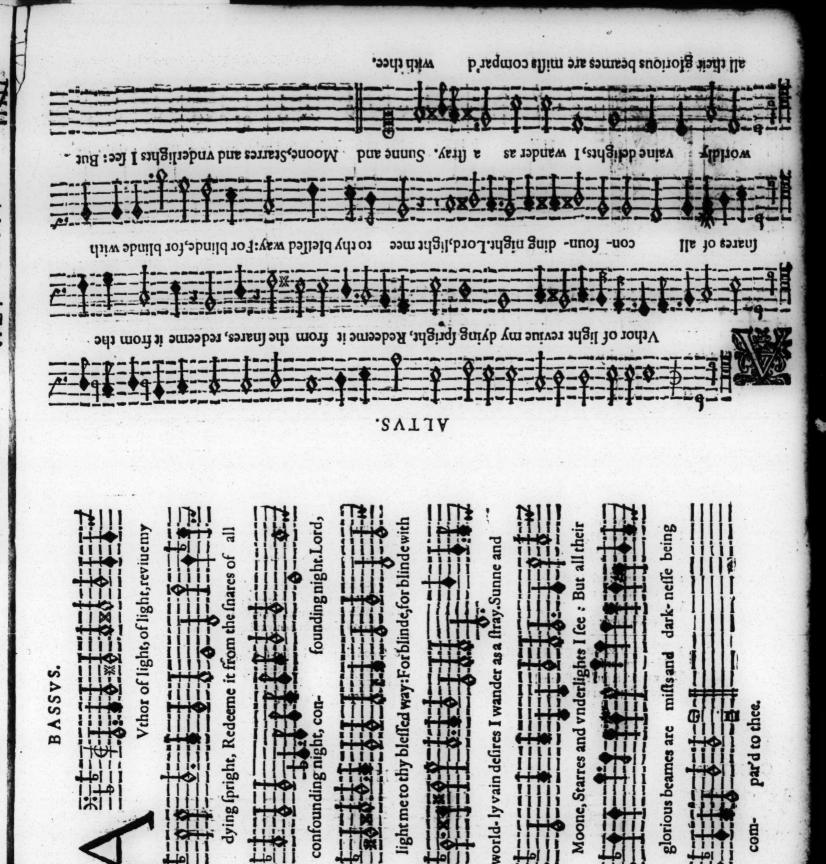

One drop of thy desired grace

The faint and fading hart can raise, and in ioyes bosome place.

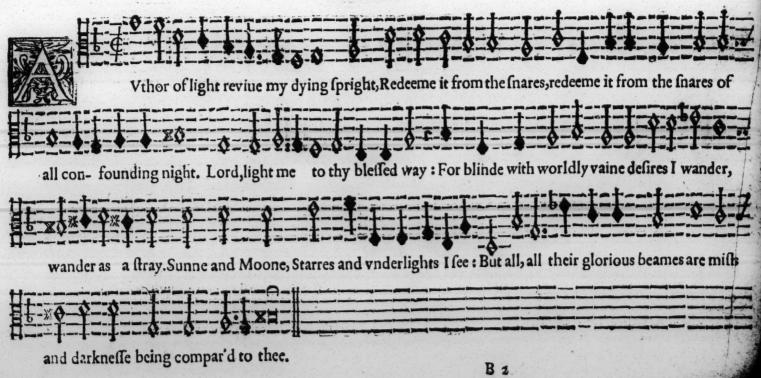

Sinne and Death, Hell and tempting Fiends may rage;

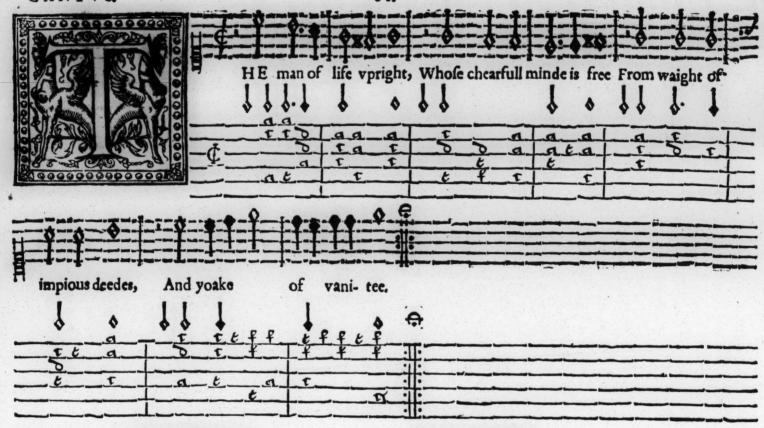

But God his owne will guard, and their sharp paines and griefe in time asswage. BUF

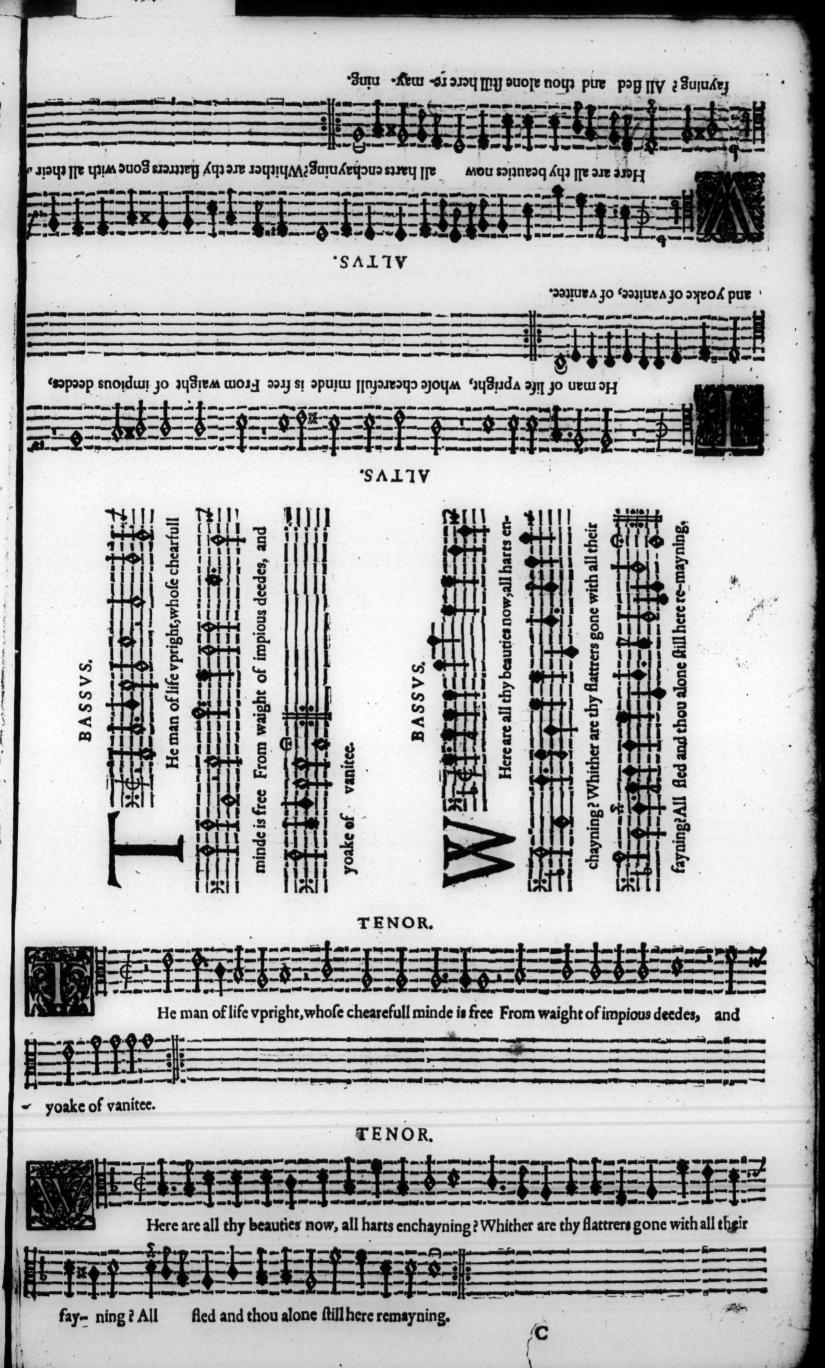

- The man of life vpright,
 Whose chearfull minde is free
 From waight of impious deedes,
 and yoake of vanitee.
- 2 The man whose silent dayes
 In harmelesse ioyes are spent:
 Whom hopes cannot delude,
 Nor forrowes discontent.
- 3 That man needes neyther towres, Nor armour for defence: Nor vaults his guilt to throwd From thunders violence.
- 4 Hee onely can behold With vnaffrighted eyes The horrors of the deepe, And terrors of the Skies.
- Thus fcorning all the cares,
 That fate or fortune brings:
 His Booke the Heau'ns hee makes
 His wifedome heau'nly things.
- 6 Good thoughts his fureft friends,
 His wealth a well-spent age,
 The earth his sober Inne,
 And quiet pilgrimage,

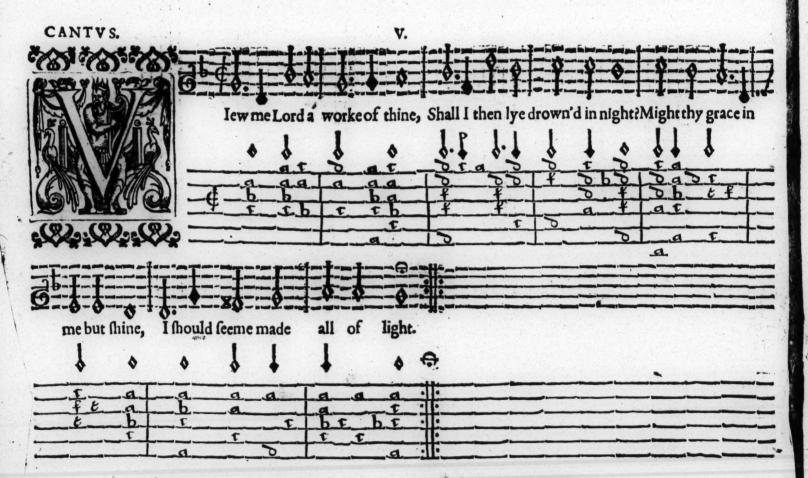

- where are all thy beauties now all harts enchayning?
 Whither are thy flatt rers gone with all their fayning?
 All fled, and thou alone full here remayning.
- Thy rich state of twisted gold to Bayes is turned;
 Cold as thou are are thy loues that so much burned;
 Who dye in flatt'rers armes are seldome mourned,
- 3 Yet in spight of enuie, this be still proclaymed, That none worthyer then thy selfe thy worth hath blamed: When their poore names are lost thou shalt line samed,
- 4 When thy frory long time hence shall be perused, Let the blemish of thy rule be thus excused, None ener lin'd more just, none more abused,

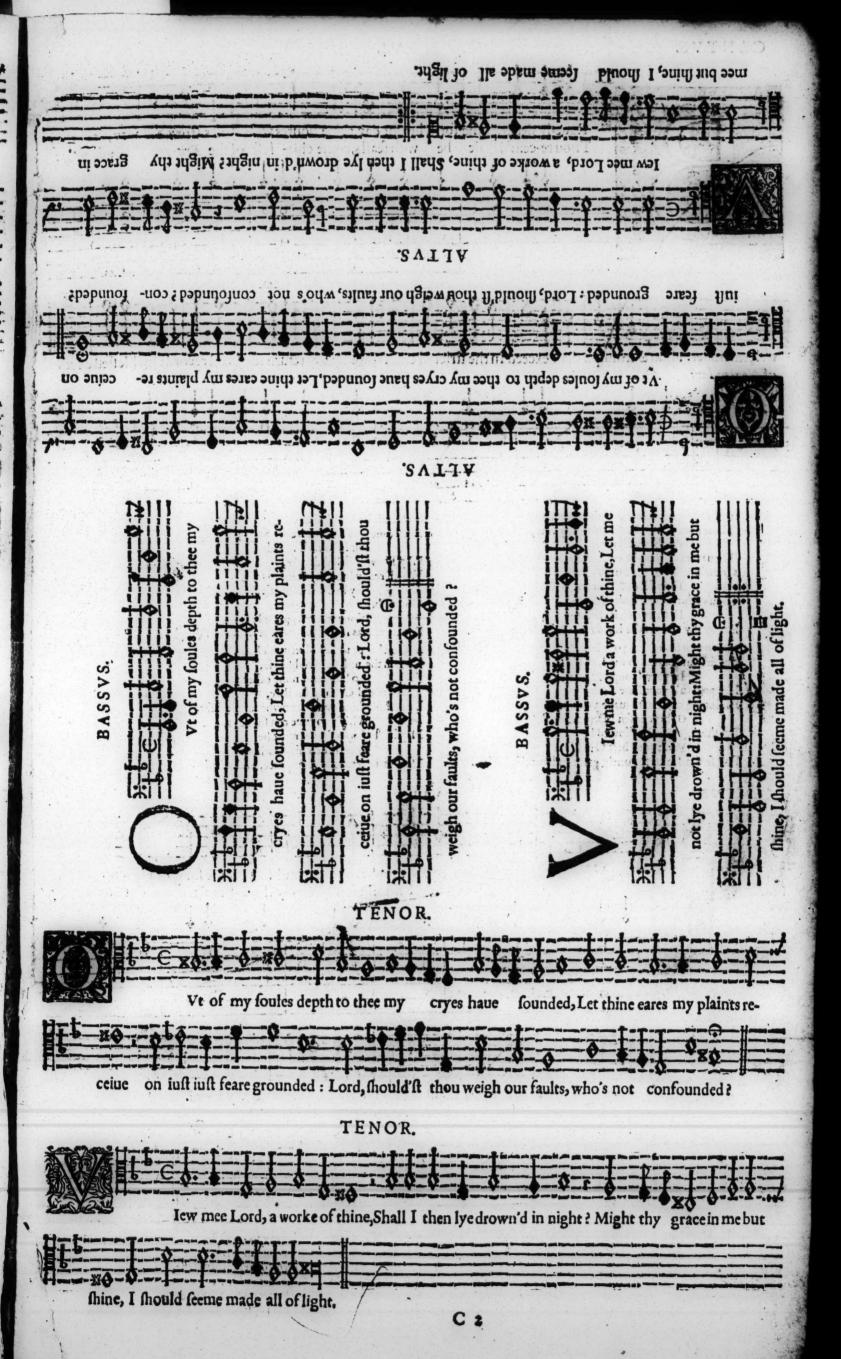

- I Out of my foules deapth to thee my cryes have founded, Let thine eares my plaints receive on tust seare grounded: Lord should it thou weigh our faults, who's not confounded?
- 2 But with grace thou censur's thing when they have erred, Therefore shall thy blessed name below'd and feared, Eu'n to thy throne my thoughts and eyes are reared.
- 3 Thee alone my hopes attend, on thee relying; In thy facred word I'le trust, to thee fast slying Long ere the Watch shall breake, the morne descrying.
- 4 In the mercies of our God who live fecured, May of full redemption rest in him assured, Their sinne-sicke soules by him shall be recured.

- I View mee Lord, a worke of thine; Shall I then lye drown'd in night? Might thy grace in mee but shine, I should seeme made all of light.
- 2 But my foule still surfets so On the poysoned baytes of sinne, That I strange and vgly growe, All in darke, and soule within.
- 3 Clense mee Lord that I may kneele At thine Altar pure and white,
- They that once thy Mercies feele, Gaze no more on earths delight
- 4 Worldly ioyes like shadowes sade, When the heau'nly light appeares, But the cou'nants thou hast made Endlesse, know nor dayes, nor yeares.
- In thy word Lord is my trust, To thy mercies fast I flye, Though I am but clay and dust, Yet thy grace can lift me high.

I Brauely deckt come forth bright day, Thine houres with Roses strew thy way, As they well remember. Thou receiv'd shalt be with feasts, Come chiefelt of the British ghelts, Thou fift of November. Thou with triumph shalt exceede In the firictest ember;
For by thy returne the Lord records his blessed deede. 2 Britaines frolicke at your bourd, But first fing praises to the Lord In your Congregations.
Hee preseru'd your state alone,
His louing grace hath made you one
Of his chosen Nations.

But this light must hallowed be

Death had enter'd in the gate, And ruine was crept neare the State; But heau'n all reuealed. Fi'ry Powder hell did make, Which ready long the flame to take, Lay in thade concealed. God vs helpt of his free grace,
None to him appealed;
For none was so had to feare the treason or the place.

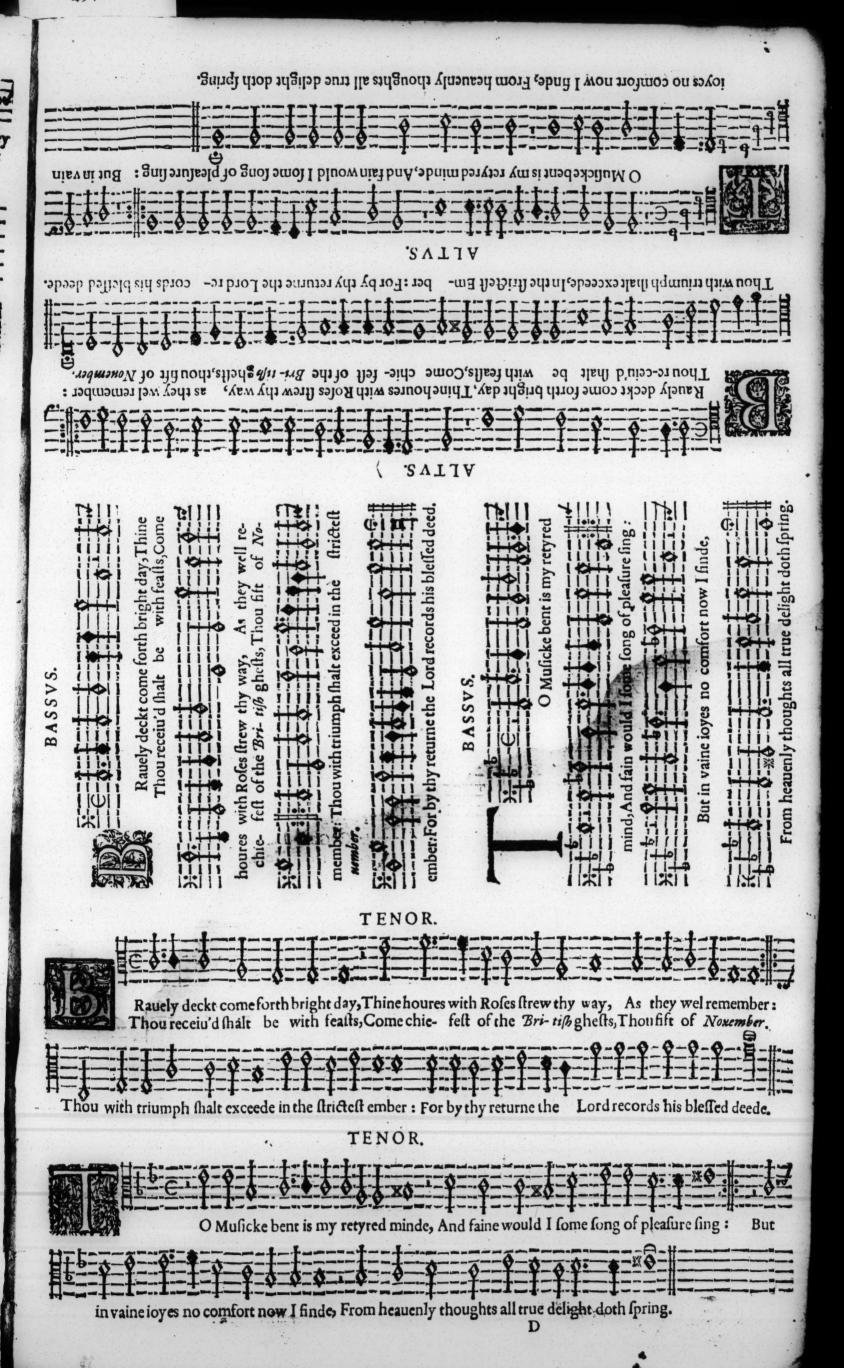

4 God his peacefull Monarch chose, To him the mist he did disclose, To him, and none other; This hee did O King for thee, That thou thine owne renowne might ft fee, Which no time can smother: May bleft Charles thy comfort be Eirmer then his Brother,

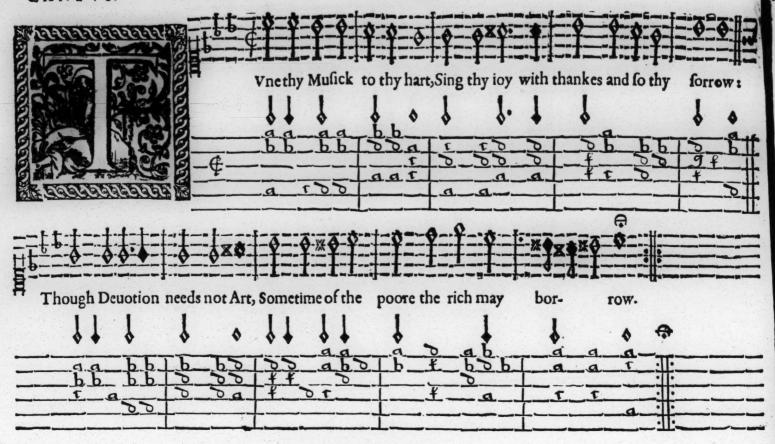

With your best Oblations;
Prayse the Lord, for onely great and mercifull is hee. May his heaft the loue of peace, and wisedome learne from thee.

To Musicke bent is my retyred minde, And faine would I some song of pleasure sing : But in vaine ioyes no comfort now I finde: From heau'nly thoughts all true delight doth spring. Thy power O God, thy mercies to record Will sweeten eu'ry note, and eu'ry word.

2 All earthly pompe or beauty to exp. ffe, Is but to carue in snow, on waves to writ: Celestiall things though men conceiue them lesse, Yet fullest are they in themselues of light: Such beames they yeeld as know no meanes to dye: Such heate they cast as lifts the Spirit high.

Tune thy Musicke to thy hart,
Sing thy ioy with thankes, and to thy sorrow:
Though Deuotion needes not Art,
Sometime of the poore the rich may borrow.

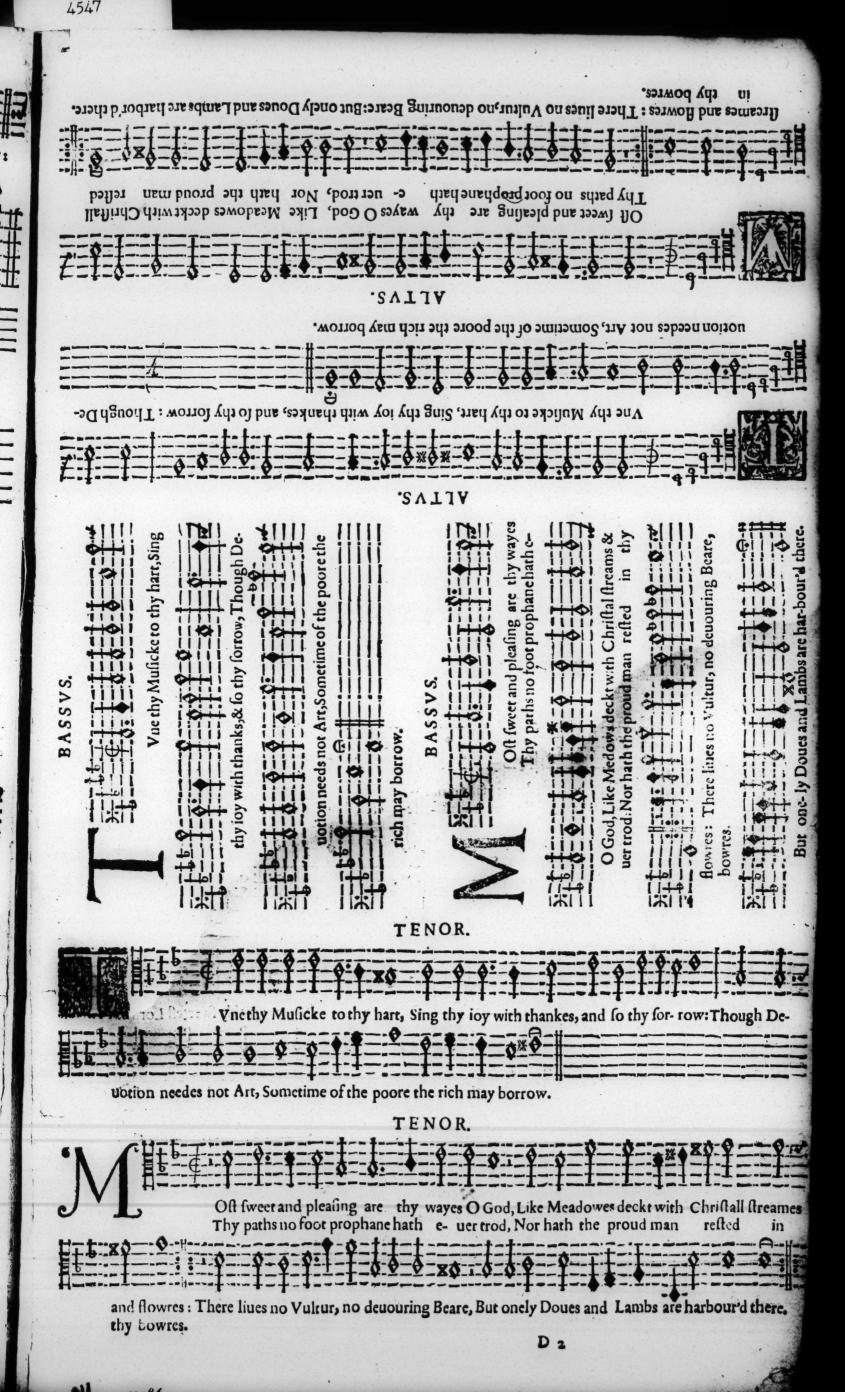

2 Striue not yet for curious wayes, Concord pleafeth more the lesse 'tis strained's Zeale aff &s not outward prayse, Onely striues to shew a love ynfained.

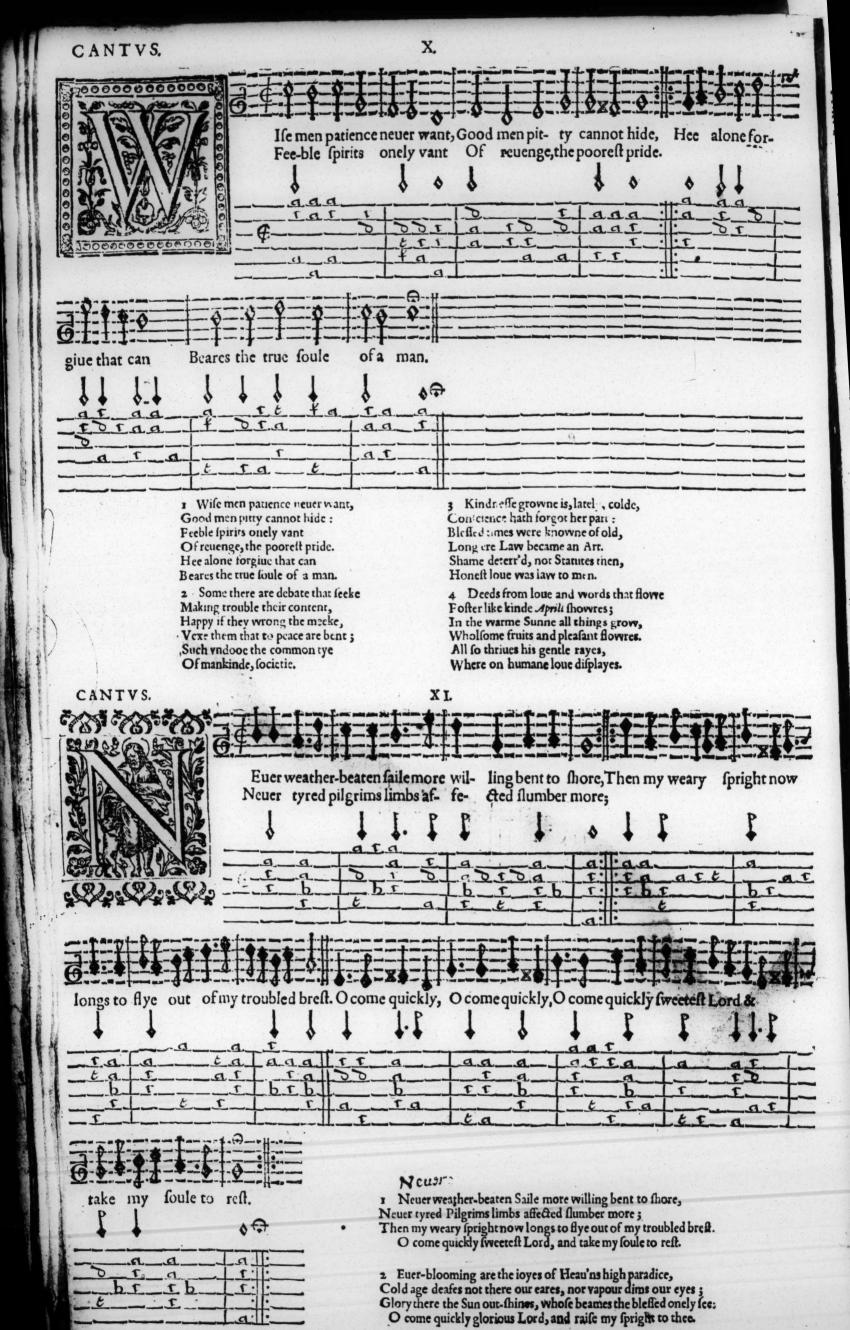

3 Loue can wondrous things effect, Sweetest Sacrifice, all wrath appealing: Loue the highest doth respect, Loue alone to him is ever pleasing.

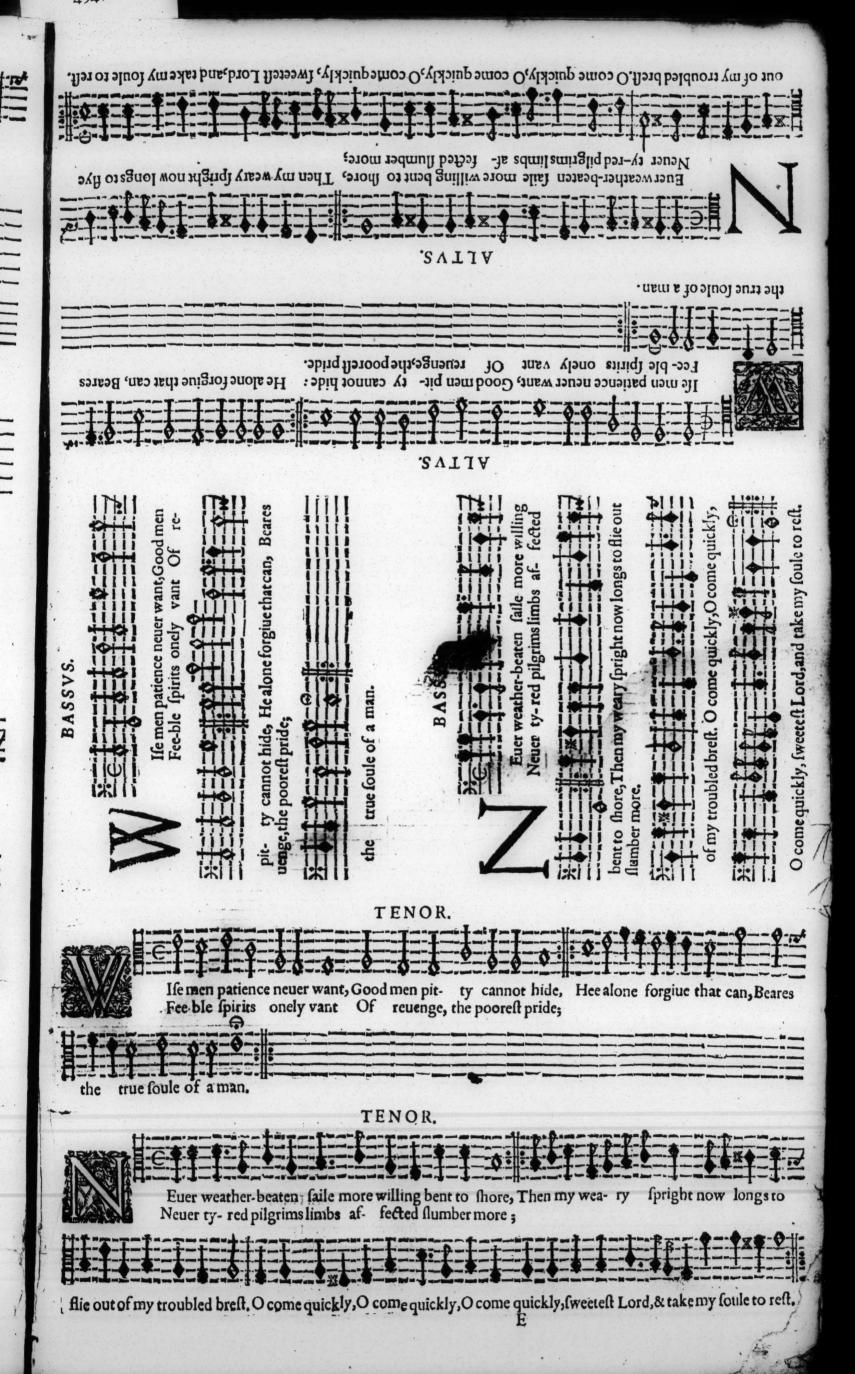

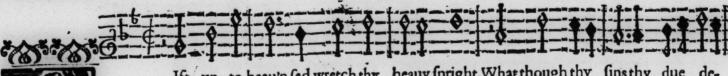

Most sweet and pleasing are thy wayes O God,
Like Meadowes deckt with Christall streames and slowers:
Thy paths no foote prophane hath euer trod:
Nor hath the proud man rested in thy Bowers.
There liues no Vultur, no deuouring Beare,
But onely Doues and Lambs are harbor'd there.

2 The Wolfe his young ones to their prey doth guide; The Foxe his Cubbs with false deceit endues; The Lyons Whelpe suckes from his Damme his pride; In hers the Serpent malice doth insuse: The darksome Desart all such beasts contaynes, Not one of them in Paradice remaynes.

The Lord exceedes in mercy as in might;

What though thy finnes thy due destruction threat?

The Lord exceedes in mercy as in might;

His ruth is greater though thy crimes be great.

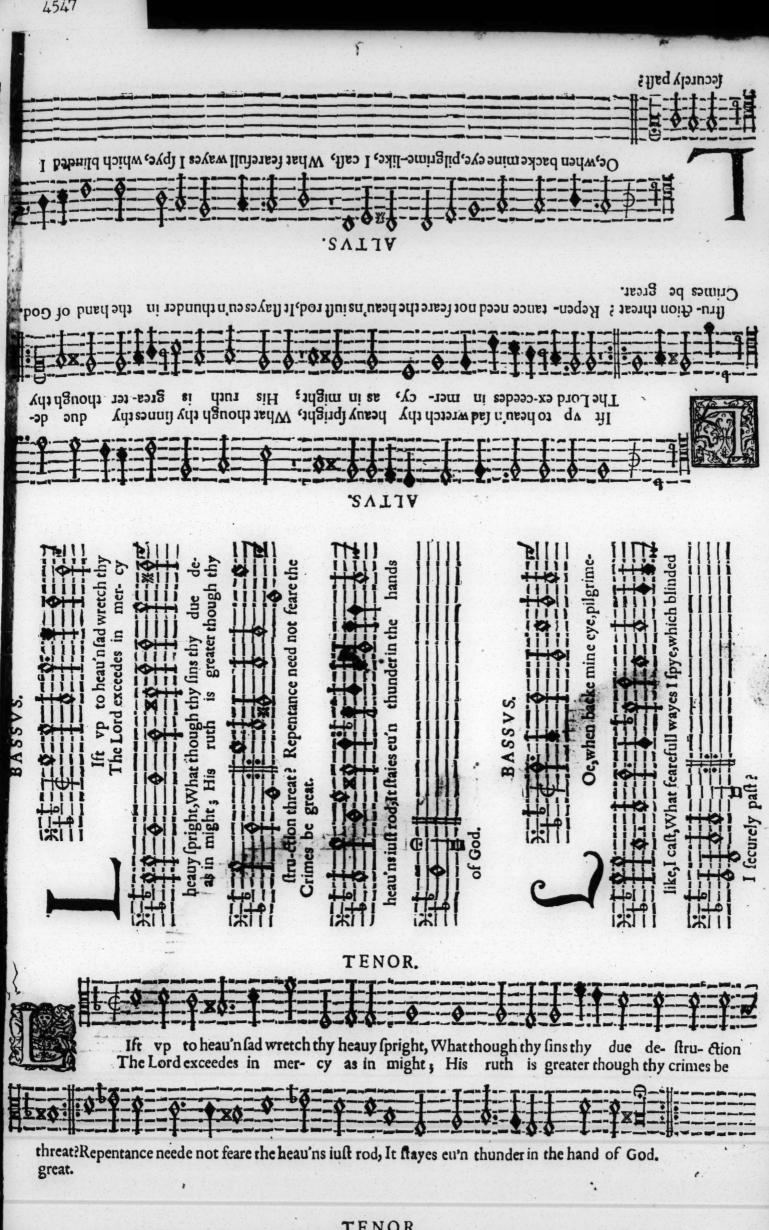

Repentance needes not feare the heau'ns iust rod,

It stayes eu'n thunder in the hand of God.

2 With chearefull voyce to him then cry for grace, Thy Faith, and fainting Hope, with Prayer reviue; Remorce for all that trutly mourne hath place; Not God, but men of him themselues depriue: Striue then, and hee will help; call him, hee'll heare; The Sonne needes not the Fathers sury feare. pog

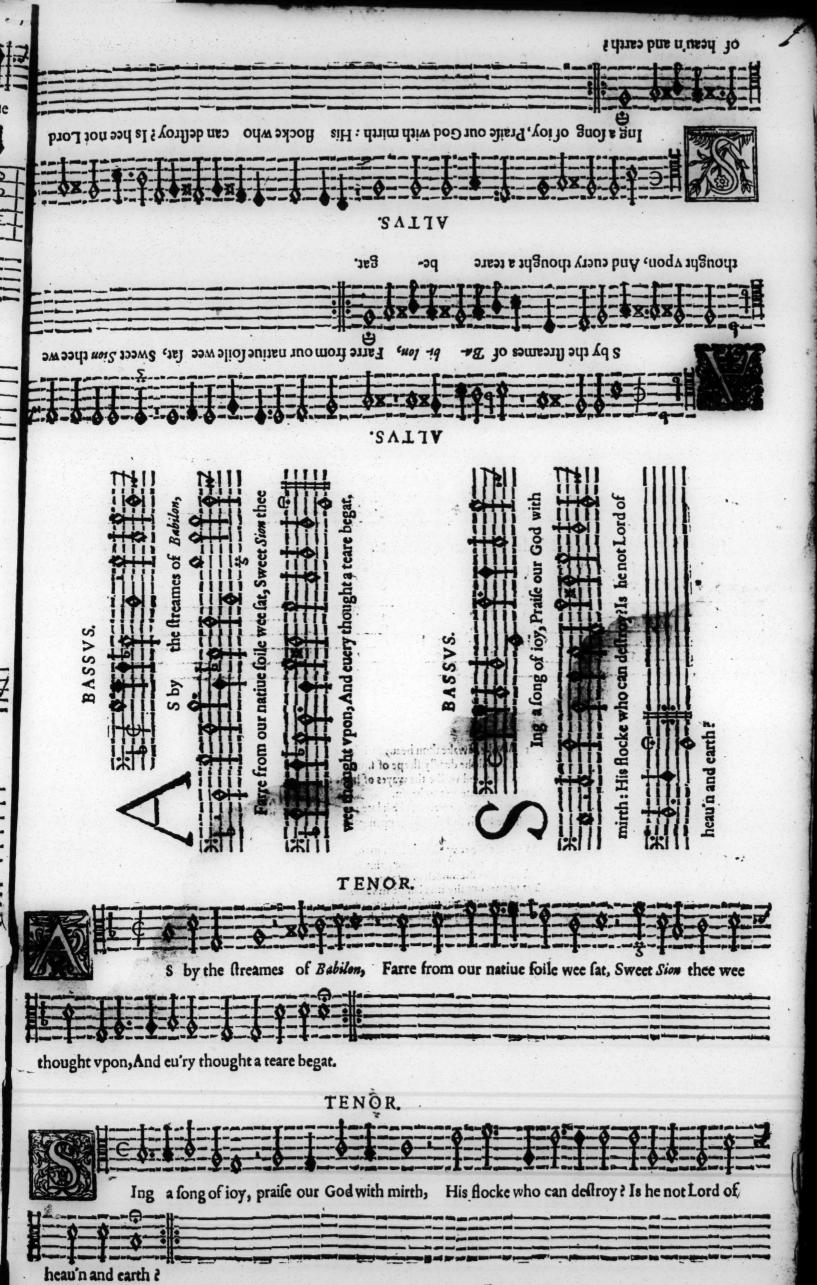

- I Loe, when backe mine eye, Pilgrim-like, I cast, What tearefull wayes I spye, Which blinded I securely past?
- 2 But now heav'n hath drawne From my browes that night; As when the day doth dawne, So cleares my long imprison'd fight.
- 3 Straight the caues of hell Dreft with flowres I see, Wherein false pleasures dwell, That winning most, most deadly be,
- 4 Throngs of masked Feinds, Wing'd like Angels flye, Eu'n in the gates of Friends; In faire difguife blacke dangers lye.
- Straight to Heau'n I rais'd My restored sight: And with loud voyce I prais'd The Lord of euer-during light,
- 6 And fince I had ftray'd
 From his wayes fo wide,
 His grace I humble pray'd
 Hence-forth to be my guard and guide.

That fleep'ff the deadly fleepe of finne;
Rife now and walke the wayes of light:
'T is not too late yet to begin.
Seeke heau'n earely, feeke it late;
True Faith still findes an open gate.

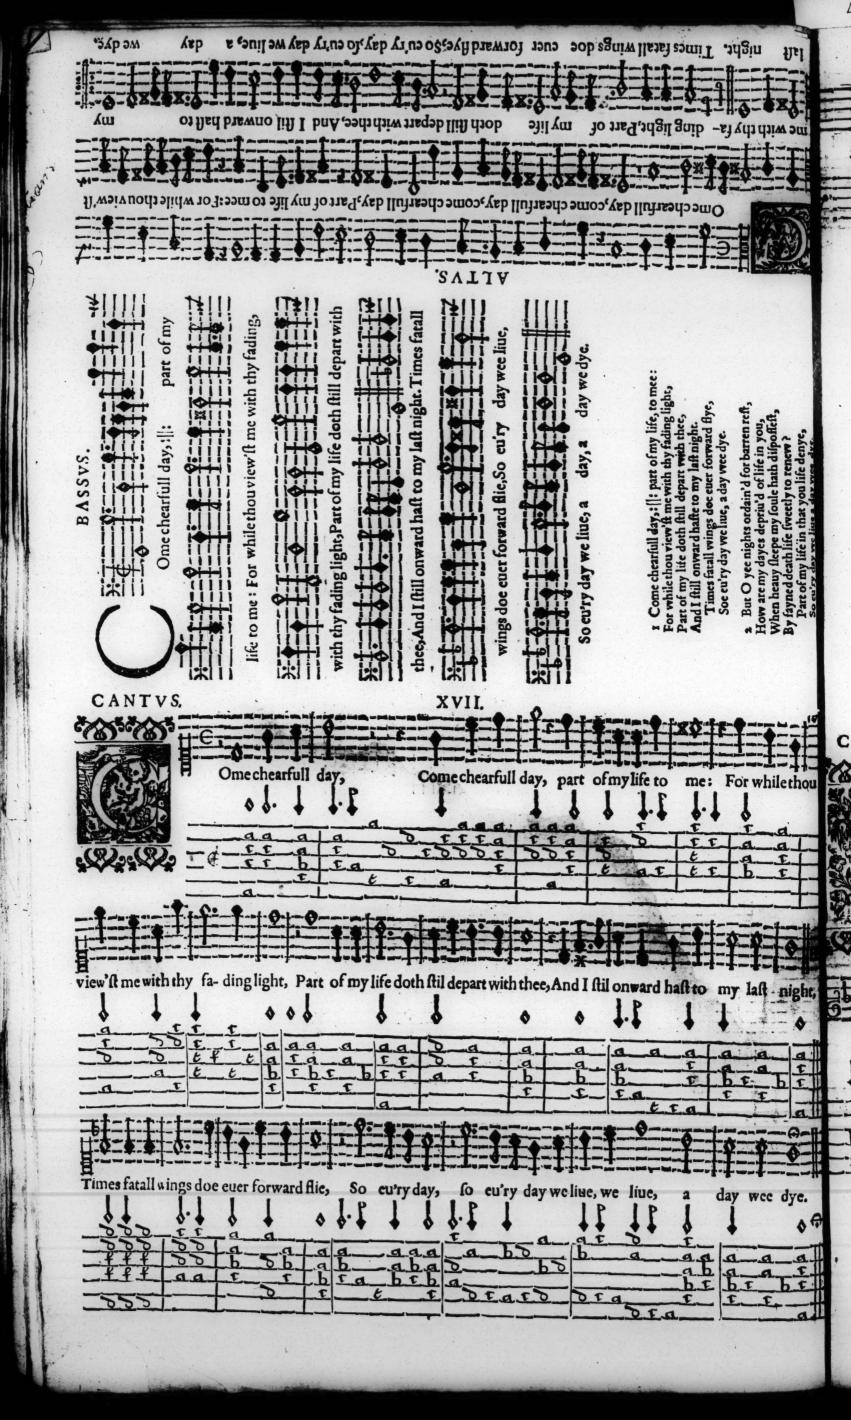

Set vp, get vp thou leaden man,
Thy tracks to endlesse ioy, or paine,
Yeelds but the modell of a span,

- I Seeke the Lord, and in his wayes perseuer: O faint not, but as Eagles flye,
 For his steepe hill a high;
 Then striuing game the top, and triumph euer.
- When with glory there thy browes are crowned,
 New ioyes so shall abound in thee,
 Such sights thy soule shall see,
 That worldly thoughts shall by their beames be drowned.

- 3 Farewell World, thou make of meere contunon, Falle light with many shadowes dimm'd, Old Witch with new foyles trimm'd, Thou deadly fleepe of foule, and charm'd illusion.

Vch dayes as weare the badge of holy red, Are for devotion markt, and sage delight; The vulgar Low-dayes vndistinguished, Are left for labour, games, and sportfull sights.

This seu'rall and so diff'ring vse of Time, VVithin th'enclosure of one weeke wee finde, VVhich I resemble in my Notes and Rime, Expressing both in their peculiar kinde.

Pure Hymnes, such as the seauenth day loues, doe leade, Graue age did iustly chalenge those of mee:

These weeke-day workes in order that succeede, Your youth best sits, and yours yong Lord they be:

As hee is, who to them their beeing gaue,

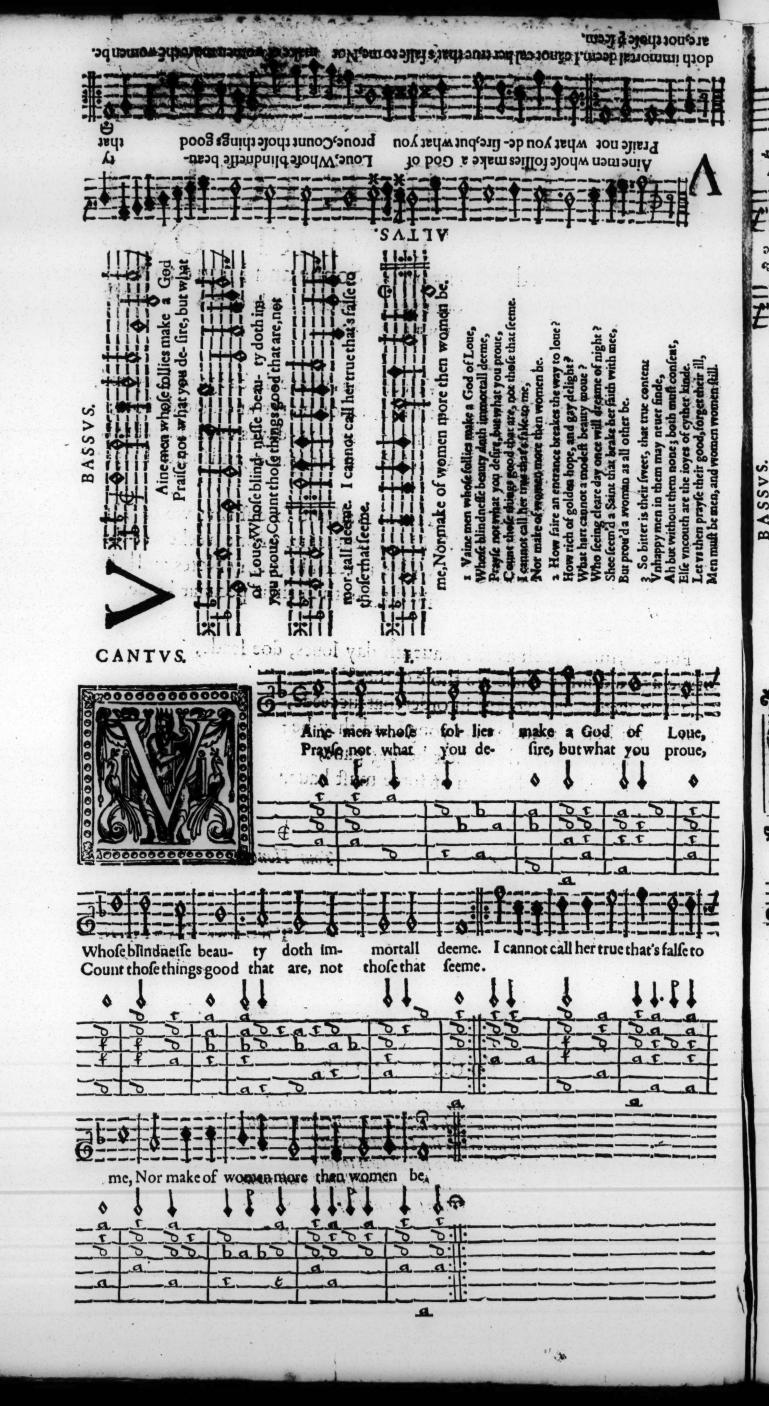

If those, the other you of force must haue.

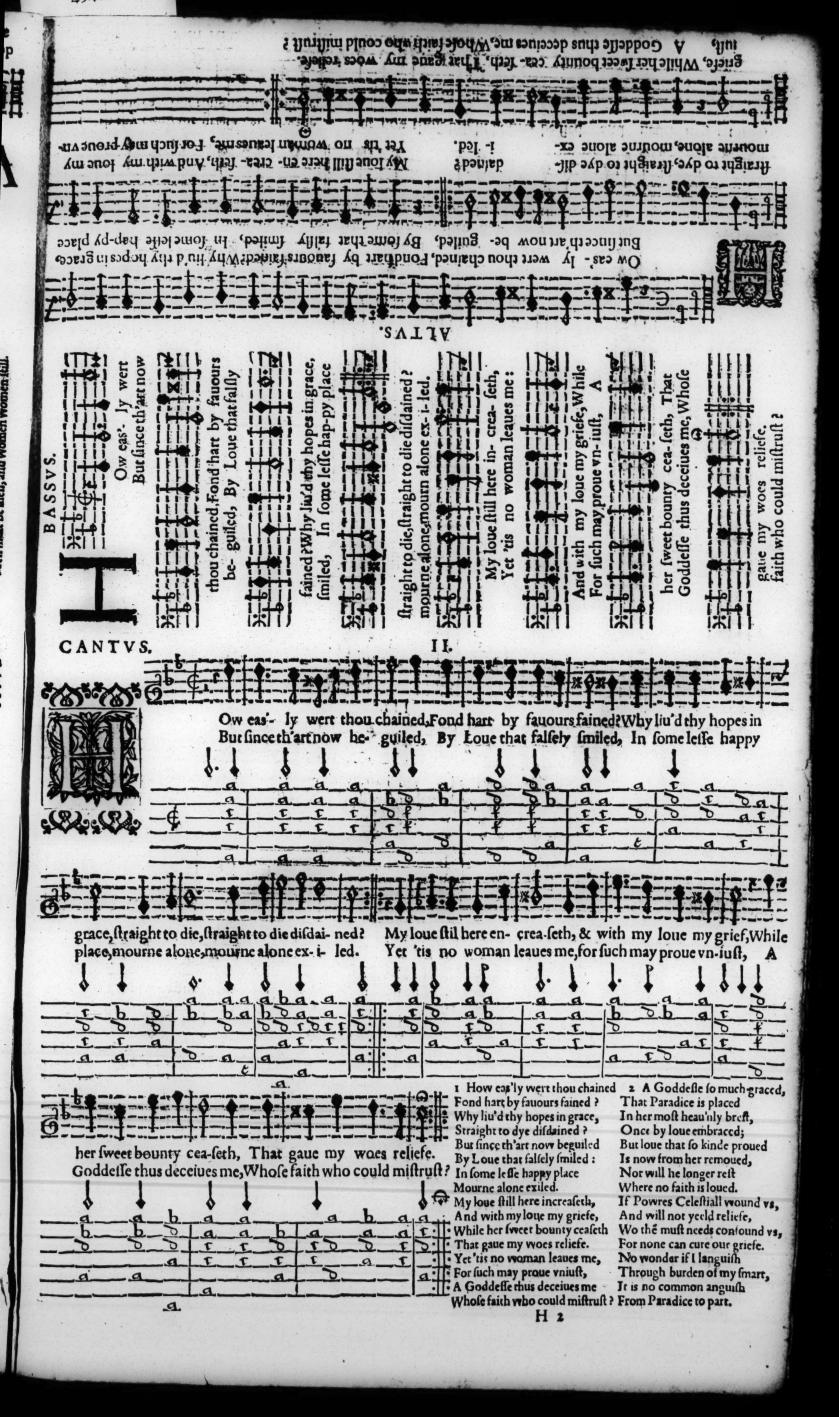

Your Honors,

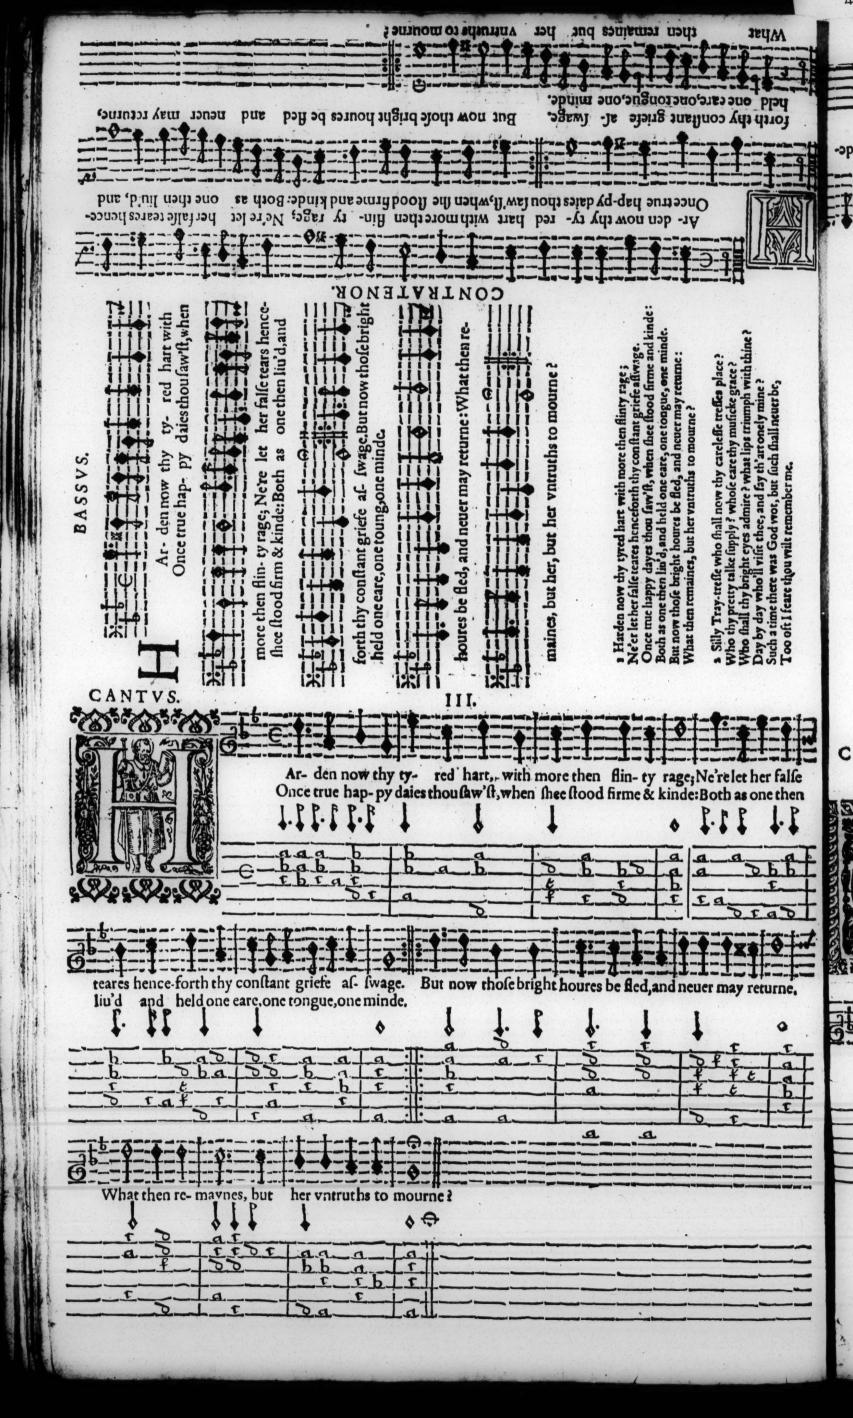

THOMAS CAMPIAN.

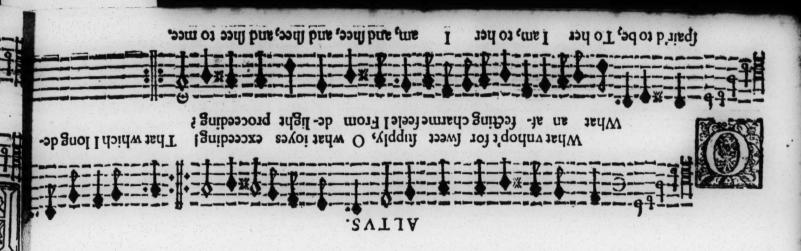

To the READER.

That holy Hymnes with Louers cares are knit
Both in one Quire here, thou maift think't unfit;
Why do st not blame the Stationer as well,
Who in the same Shop sets all sorts to sell?
Divine with stiles prophane, grave shelved with vaine;
And some matchs worse, yet none of him complaine.

I O what vnhop't for sweet supply ! O what ioyes exceeding! What an affecting charme feele I From delight proceeding?
That which I long despair'd to be, To her I am, and shee so mee.

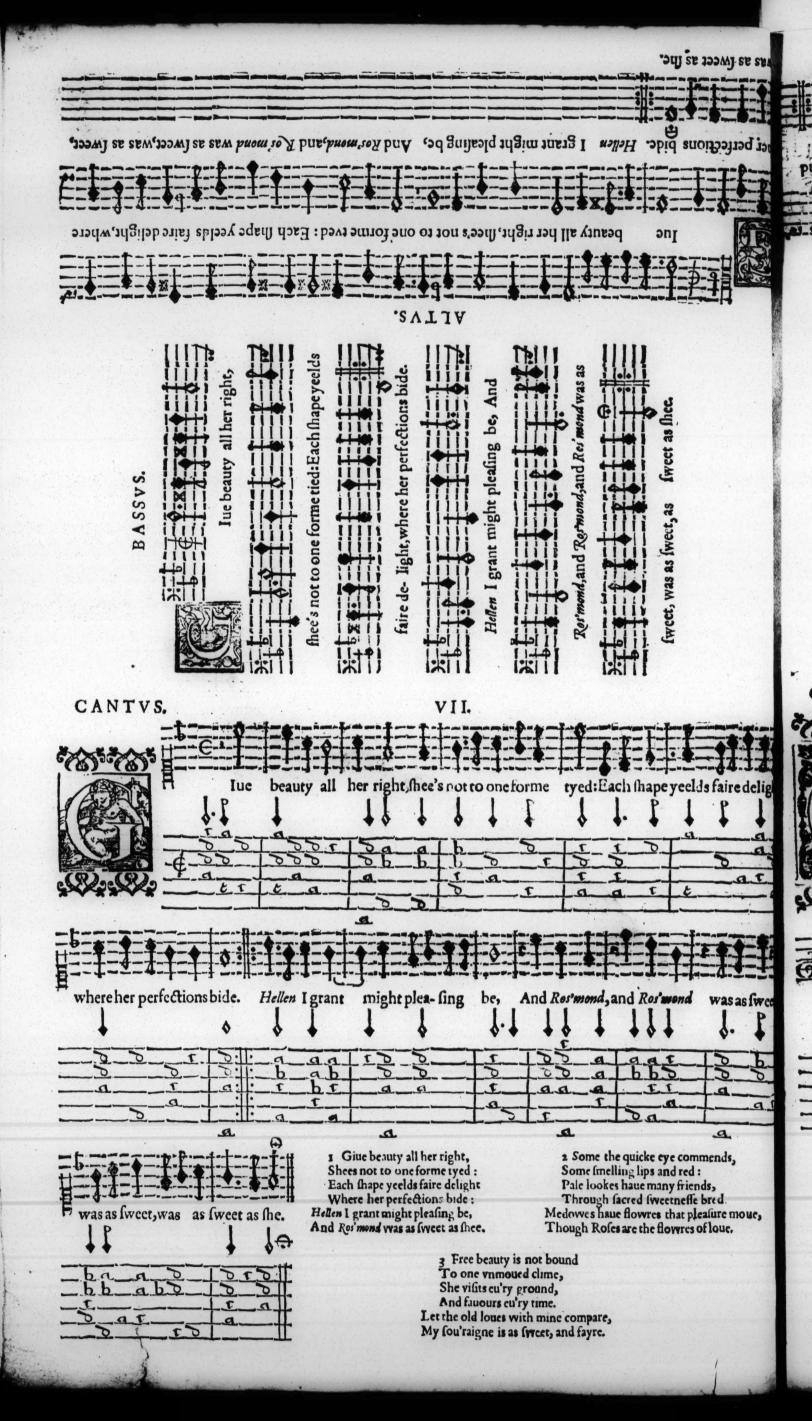

2 Shee that alone in cloudy griefe Long to mee appeared; Shee now alone with bright reliefe, All those clouds hath cleared. Both are immortall, and divine, Since I am hers, and the is mine.

- I Faine would I my loue disclose, Aske what honour might denye; But both loue and her I lofe, From my motion if shee flye. Worse then paine is feare to mee, Then hold in fancy though it burne; If not happy, safe lie be, And to my clostred cares returne.
- > Yet, ô yet in vaine I ftriue To represse my school'd desire, More and more the flames reuiue, I consume in mine owne fire. She would pitty might shee know The harmes that I for her endure: Speake then, and get comfort so, A wound long hid growes most recure.
- 3 Wife shee is, and needs must know All th'attempts that beauty moues: Fayre she is, and honour'd so, That she sure hath tryed some loucs. If with love I tempt her then, 'Tis but her due to be desir'd: What would women thinke of men,
- 4 Women courted have the hand To discard what they distaste; But those Dames whom none demand, Want oft what their wils imbrac't. Could their firmnesse iron excell, As they are faire they should be sought; When true theeues vse falsehood well, As they are wise they will be caught.

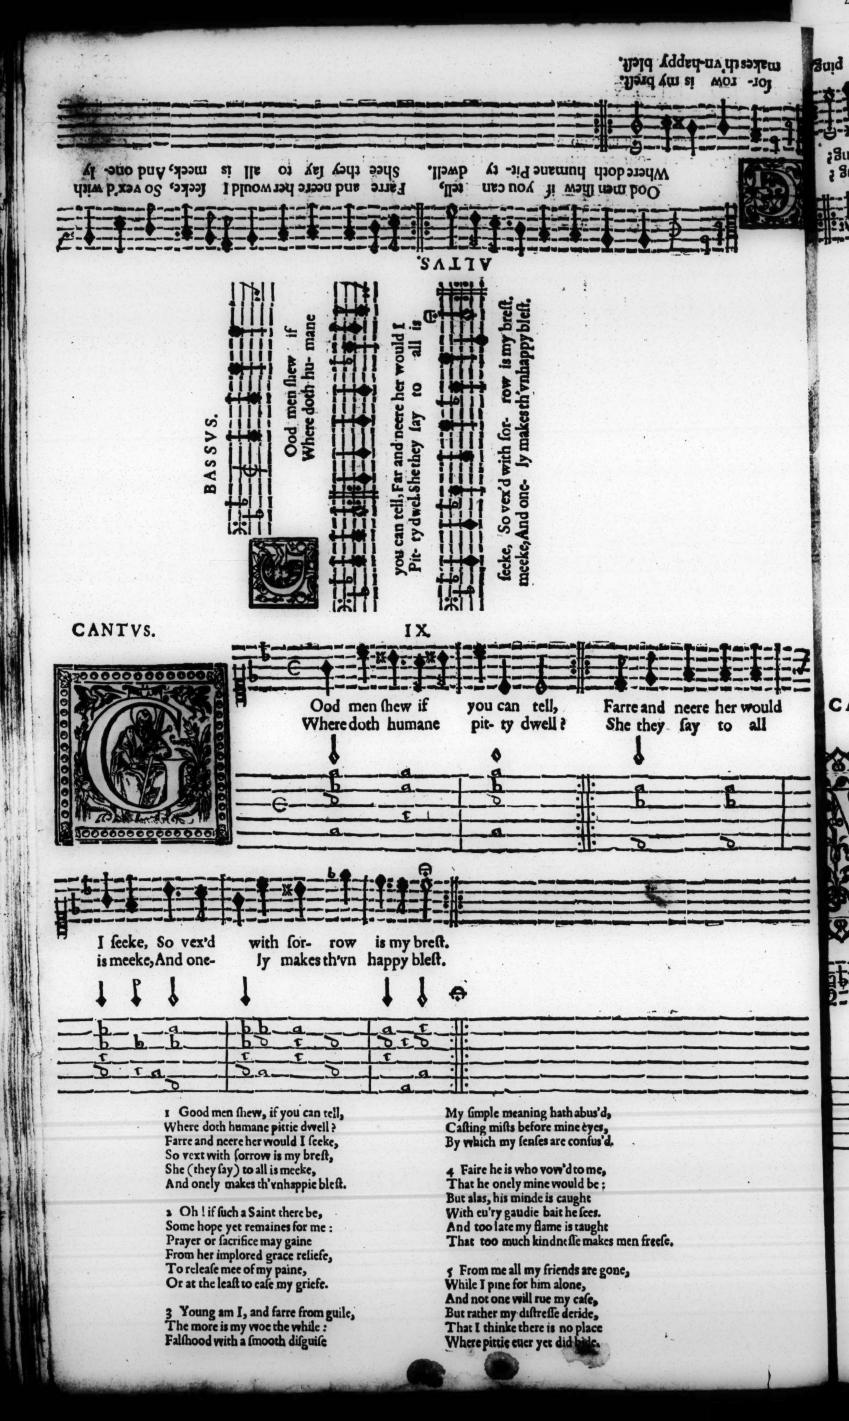

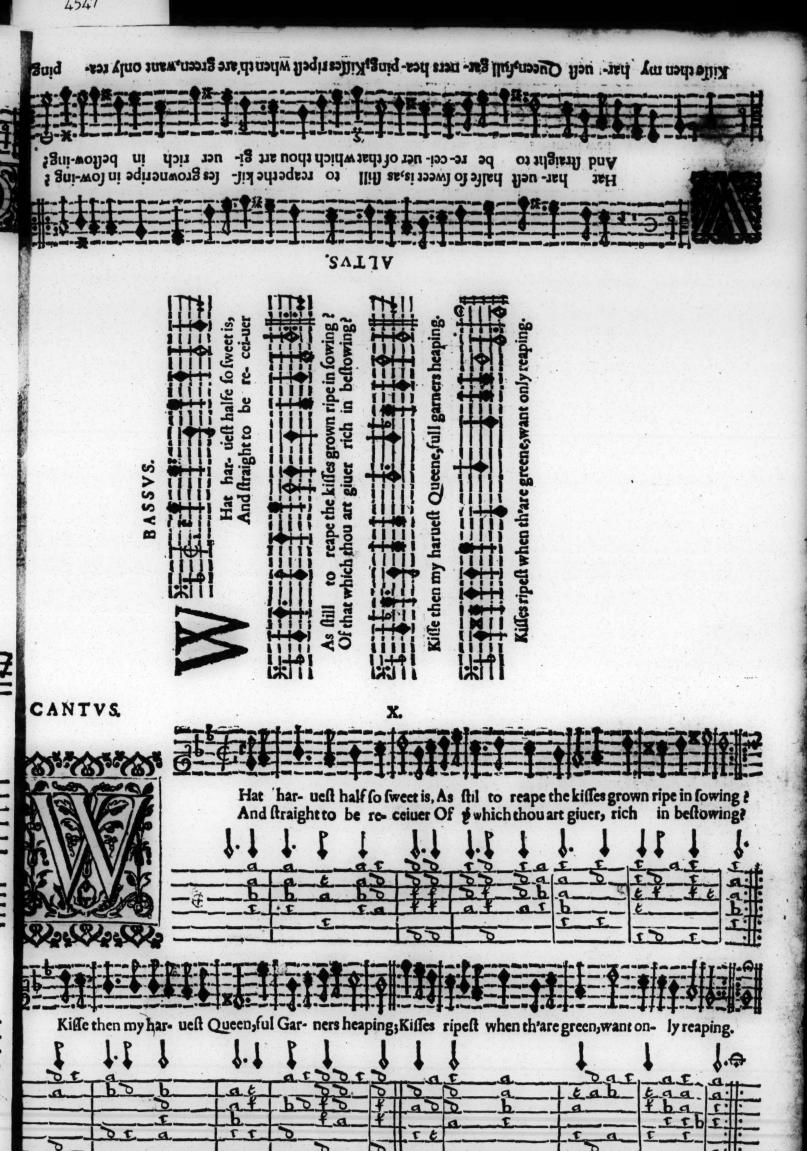

I O deare that I with thee might litte,
From humane trace remoted:
Where it is it is in their grieue,
Yet each dote on their loued.
While fond feare may colour finde Loue's feldome pleased:
But much like a sicke mans rest it's soone diseased.

2 Why should our mindes not mingle so, When love and faith is plighted: That eyther might the others know, Alike in all delighted?

Why should frailtie breed suspect when hearts are fixed?
Must all humane joyes of force with griefe be mixed?

3 How oft have wee eu'n smilde in teares
Our fond mistrust repenting?
As snow when heavinly fire appeares,
So melts loves hate relenting.
Vexed kindnesse soone fals off, and soone returneth:
Such a flame the more you quench the more it burneth.

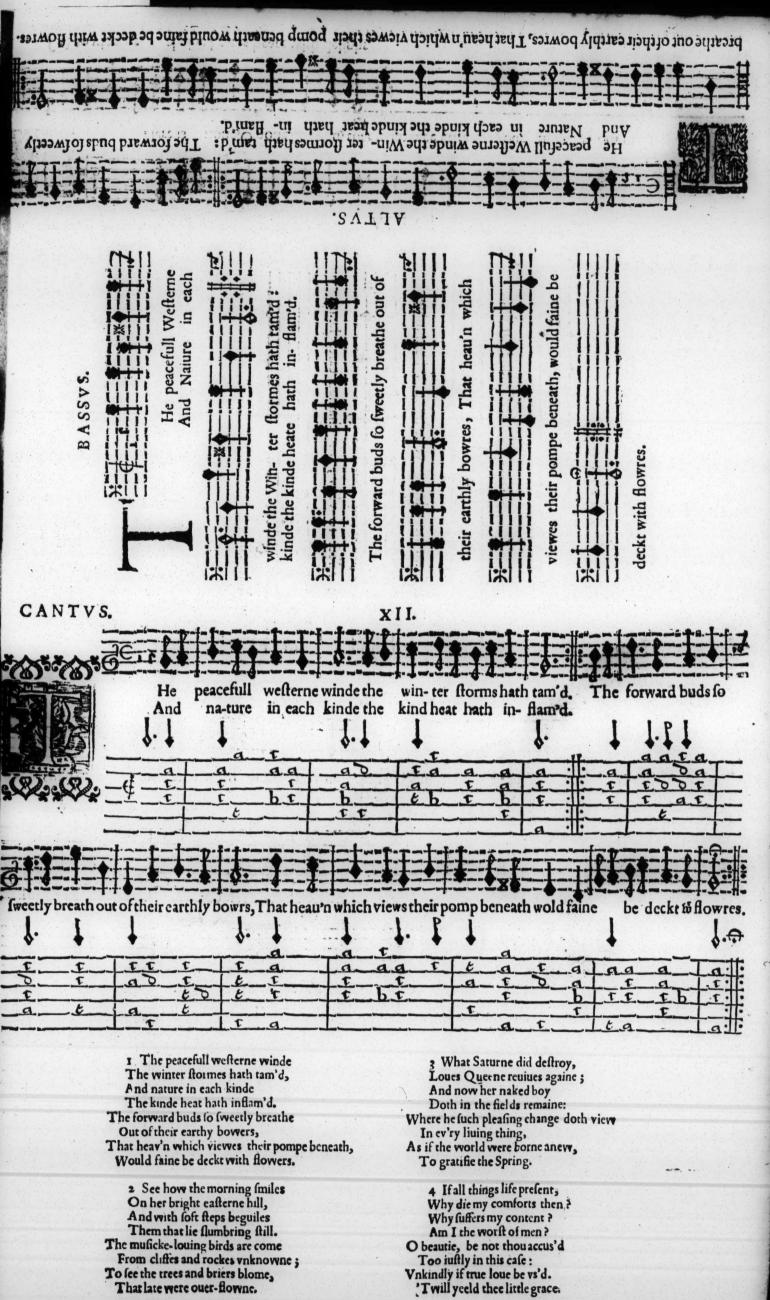

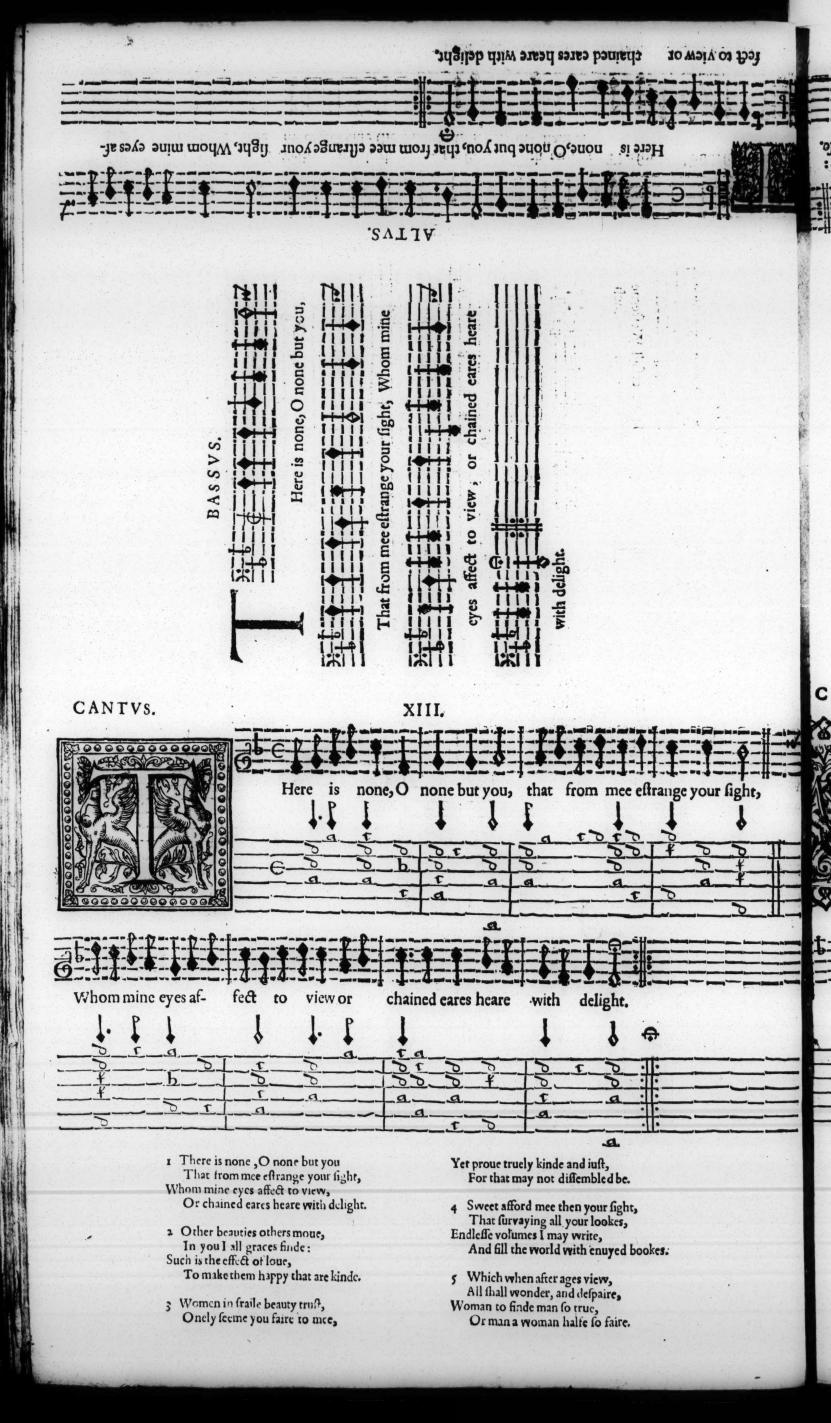

I What haruest halfe so sweet is,
As still to reape the kiffes
Growne ripe in sowing?
And straight to be receiver
Of that which thou art giver,
Rich in bestowing?
Kisse then my haruest Queene,
full garners heaping;
Kisse ripest when the are greene,
want onely reaping.

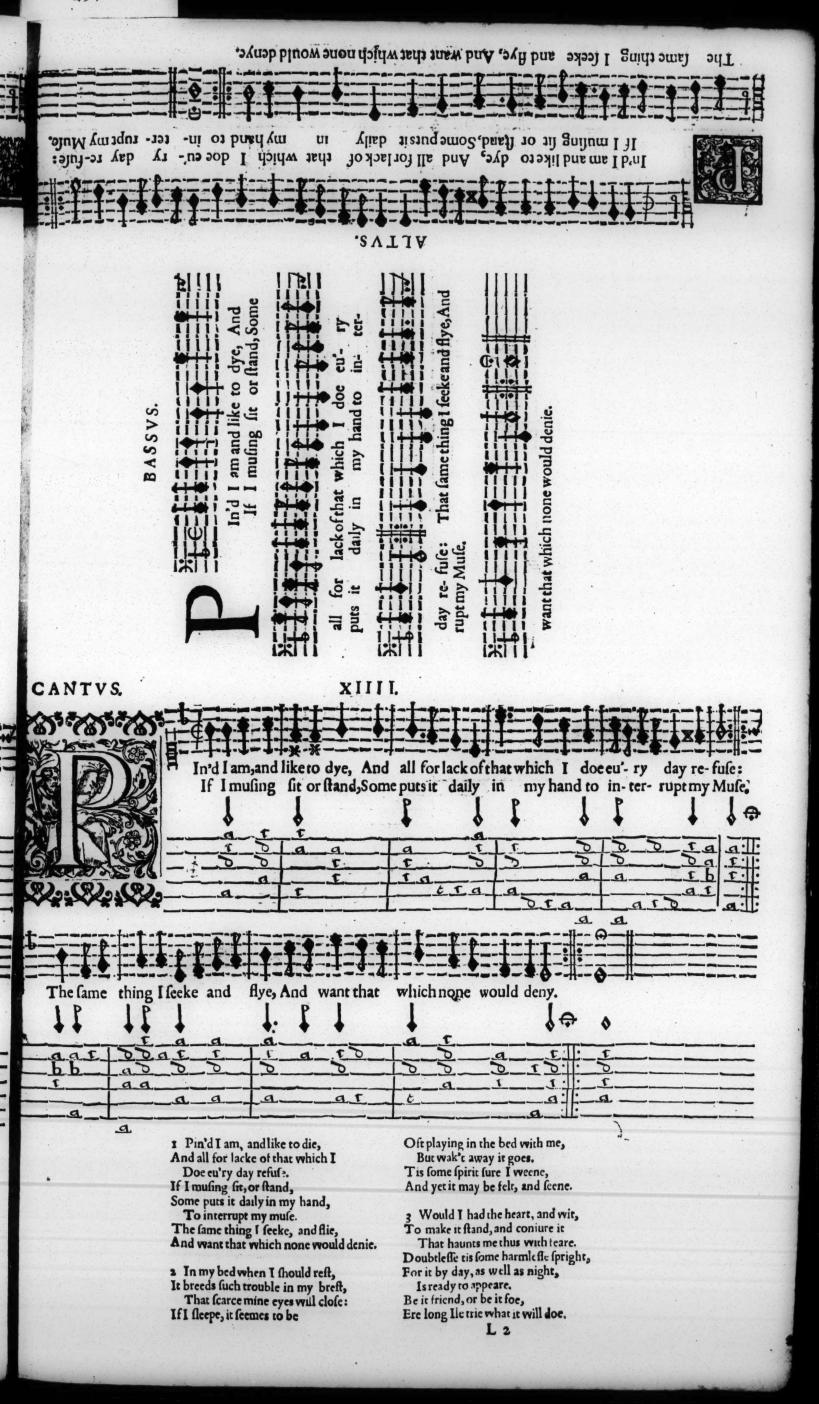

2 The Doue alone expresses
Her feruencie in kisses,
Of all most louing:
A creature as offencelesse,
As those things that are sencelesse,
And void of moving.
Let vs so loue and kisse,
Though all enuie vs:
That which kinde, and harmelesse is,
None can denie vs.

I A fecret lone or two I must confesse,
I kindly welcome for change in close playing:
Yet my deare husband I loue ne erthelesse,
His desires whole or halfe, quickly allaying,
At all times ready to offer redresse.
His owne he neuer wants, but hath it duely
Yet twits me I keepe not touch with him truly.

2 The more a spring is drawne, the more it flowes;
No Lampe leffe light retaines by lightning others:
Is hee a looser his loffe that ne're knowes?
Or is he wealthy that wast treasure smothers?
My churle vowes no man shall sent his sweet Rose,
His owne enough and more I gue him duely,
Yet still he twits mee I keepe not touch truly.

Wife Archers beare more then one shaft to field,
The Venturer loads not with one ware his shipping:
Should Warriers learne but one weapon to weilde?
Or thriue faire plants ere the worse for the slipping?
One dish cloyes, many fresh appetite yeeld:
Mine owne Ile vie, and his he shall have duely,
Iudge then what debter can keepe touch more truly.

Her rose checkes, her euer smiling eyes
Are Spheares and beds, where Loue in triumph lies:
Her rubine lips when they their pearle valocke,
Make them seeme as they did rise
All out of one smooth Currall Rocke.
Oh that of other Creatures store I knew,
More worthy, and more rare:
For these are old, and shee so new,
That her to them none should compare.

Or that shee onely knew what sighs pretend.
Her lookes inslame, yet cold as Ice is shee,
Doe, or speake, all's to one end:
For what shee is, that will shee be.
Yet will I neuer cease her prayse to sing,
Though she gives no regard:

Are onely greedy of reward,
